The Father's Day Gift Guide: 10 Genius Presents That Will Make Your Pop Smile

Tuesday, 06/ 9/2009

My father 58-year-old father is a triathlete, an avid gardener, a serious reader, and one of the most ungrateful gift getters I've ever known. When I'm at my parents' house, I'll often point out a cool gadget in their kitchen, to which he inevitably responds, "Thanks, I returned that sweater you bought me for my birthday and got this instead." But this year, I'm determined to buy something even he won't return.

Need some ideas for what to get dear old dad? Start here:

Is your old man forever trying to stay in shape? Give him the (inexpensive--$19.99!) gift of fitness on the go with Pump One, an application for his iPod or iPhone that lets him create custom workouts based on his goals or dig through more than 400 premade workouts that focus on any area of the body he chooses. Genius, no?
